Agricultural Outlook for Alberta

Benefits of Irrigation

At the luncheon given by Strathmore E. Board of Trade to the delegates to the Municipal Convention at Strathmore on Thursday, August 6th, Mr. W. J. Stephens, Field Grain Commissioner for the Provincial Department of Agriculture, delivered a very interesting address dealing largely with farm problems, and the outlook for the future.

First of all Mr. Stephens congratulated the members of the various municipalities on holding the convention, and the people of Strathmore district on the time building in which they were holding their meeting.

A change was coming over the people of this province. In the earlier days the main idea seemed to be to make a fortune and leave town, they were full of the spirit of making Alberta their permanent home.

People from any country in the world would find that the conditions here would not fit exactly into their previous methods of farming. In Alberta the soil and climatic conditions were very diversified. To ensure continued prosperity we had to get down to the idea of more mixed farming all over the province.

Irrigation a Boon

Fortunately they had the advantage of irrigation in Strathmore district. While some people felt that they were better off without irrigation, they felt that the future of irrigation districts would be based upon diversified farming. Wheat would always be the major crop, but the other departments of the farming had to be cultivated to ensure prosperity.

The farmer must make himself a home, in the first place. With irrigation they had the opportunity of building the finest homes in the world. A farm was not a home without trees, and there was never any difficulty in growing trees with irrigation. The establishment of a beet sugar factory in Southern Alberta was only a forerunner of future industries based on irrigation and mixed farming.

Losses by Weeds

The loss to the farmers through dockage was growing every year, which showed the cost of weeds. In Alberta in 1903 the dockage was only 2.2 per cent, while in 1920 it was 5.1. Last year it was nearly five per cent, with a loss to the farmers of over $8,000,000. They would therefore see the necessity for a ceaseless campaign against weeds.

Soil Will Work Out

Alberta stood at the top at present on average yield per acre, the wheat yield for the past twenty years having averaged 18 bushels. Saskatchewan for the same period was 16.08, Manitoba was 16.7, Minnesota 12.4, and South Dakota 10.9. There was no reason to suppose that our land was so much superior to that of these provinces and states that our average would not drop as theirs had done, and he predicted that unless our methods changed it would run down to 11.

Automobile Accident

On Thursday evening Mr. Tim Kildee, living seven miles west of Strathmore, was the victim of a serious accident, when his sedan car upset a mile west of Strathmore, near Nels Woldum's place. The car turned over several times. Mr. Kildee had his collar bone fractured, also sustaining a scalp wound and other injuries. The foot of the car was wrecked off, two wheels broken, window smashed, and the body generally wrecked. Mr. John Sabiston, who was travelling with Mr. Kildee at the time, escaped with slight bruises.

Mr. Kildee at the time was on his way to Strathmore. He believes that the cause of the accident was the breaking of a front wheel.

Dr. Moore was called, and Mr. Kildee's injuries attended to, and he is now doing well.

HAT GETS CONVENTION

Medicine Hat secured the 1926 convention of the Western Canada Irrigation Association when the matter was decided at the convention in session in Kelowna, B. C.

COMING EVENTS

The Union Ladies Aid will give a supper in the park next Thursday evening at 6 o'clock, 25c. Everybody welcome. 19-24

A meeting of Strathmore U.F.W.A. will be held at the home of Mrs. Wm. Haddon on August 26th. Mrs. Schofield will speak on the Egg Pool. All interested are cordially invited.

bushels per acre. The old province of Ontario had kept up her average through diversification. Something had to be put back into the soil to replace what was taken out. If we desired the soil to continue producing.

Our dockage last year, nearly five per cent, was due to our exclusive system of farming. For instance, if the farmer owned sheep, he would use the dockage to feed the sheep. Attachments to separators to clean the grain on the farm and keep the dockage at home had been invented, but were not perfected yet, though he thought they would be very soon.

Use Registered Wheat. Mr. Stephens advised farmers to sow wheat of a standard variety. The whole object of farming was to get the maximum crop from the minimum acreage. The use of registered wheat would increase the yield per acre, and keep Alberta's standard up in the wheat market. In conclusion, he stressed the value of agricultural schools, not so much for the education they gave, but in the initiative they gave to the boys and girls to use their heads.

Rain Delays Harvest

A number of binders were in the field last week, but a heavy rain on Friday, with showers on Saturday, caused a cessation of work, but it was again resumed on Monday.

The rain was of benefit to late crops and to garden stuff, besides laying the dust, but so far as the main portion of the crop is concerned, it has only had the effect of delaying harvest several days.

The labour supply seems to be about equal to the demand.

Converts Money

A WARRANT is out for the arrest of William Lee, for several months resident in Strathmore, on a charge of converting trust funds to his own use, but so far he has not been apprehended. It is alleged that as joint commissionaire for the refreshments at the Stampede he kept part of the money derived from the concessions, leaving his partner to foot the bills. He is also alleged to have passed a number of worthless cheques to farmers in payment; for cattle, and several local storekeepers are also in possession of cheques bearing his name.

Lee commenced a butcher business in Strathmore, but his shop was only open for a few days, and he departed for parts unknown on the morning of August 9th.

Dalemead

Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Wheeler and family returned from an extensive trip through the States, which took them to Chicago, Yellow Stone Park, and other centres of scenic beauty along the route. Theirs was a six weeks holiday, and were lucky to have good weather and good roads all the way.

The stock has been very active of late, and up to now August can claim for itself two new arrivals. A baby girl was born to Mr. and Mrs. R. Newton on August 4, while Mr. and Mrs. J. Hable are the proud parents of a son, born to them on Sunday, August 9.

Both families are to be heartily congratulated, and that from all of us.

On Wednesday, August 12th, the organization of a Junior U.F.A. was completed by Charles Horvath, at Mrs. C. Gade's home, eight miles south-west of Strathmore. A welcome hand is extended to them from the Dalemead local, and we hope that each month as it passes will mean more to the new group among their ranks.

The U.F.W.A. held its meeting last Thursday, August 13th, and although the program, which consisted of a debate, did not go so through, the local has decided to adopt and care for an Indian boy at Morley for a year.

John Sachs, accompanied by Julius Horvath, left last Thursday for his homestead at Springdale, Alta., and will probably be back the first of next week.

"The Flapper Wife"

"THE ESCAPADES OF ESTHER"
 — Prologue —

"It isn't a thing in the Standard this week. If it were for Tim Kilday's car doing a somersault on the Calgary road it wouldn't be worth while putting out a paper," said the editor of the Standard, emerging from his lair.

"But there's nothing to write about," said the editor.

"Why not write a story, then," said the sub. "The Calgary papers are writing stories about the Calgary flappers. What's the matter with writing one about the Stinchmore flapper."

"So here goes, and let's pray to our readers that they be merciful and not visit on us the fate that would have been Russell Scott's did he not live in the land where killing's the favorite outdoor sport.

Take Up the Story (7) Here

The flapper, wife of her step-father, the Stinchmore and Calgary Street Railway was in her household making preparations to go out and do her Saturday night shopping. The dining table was extensively decorated with cosmetics and hair tongs from Russell Red, who had guaranteed that a small application would give her a complexion as outstanding in its way as his own curly locks. And his stuff lived up to the advance notices.

Suddenly a great light flashed up in the sky. What is that? she cried in dismay. Her hardworking husband, who was in for a modest supper, cooked by himself on the electric stove supplied by the Corporation, appeared from the kitchen. "Don't worry, Esther. That is only Frost hanging up the light on the 'best collectionman.' 'Poor Frost' she exclaimed. 'He's worked to death on his job. How can any man carry on if the job he's doing and avoid nervous prostration?'"

"Oh," said her husband, "that's easy to say. I'd be a lot better off if I would die."

But Esther's mind did not occupy itself for long with civic problems. She tripped out of the house with a heavy sigh, narrowly avoiding a collision that had perked itself on the sidewalk, and disappeared down town.

From the door of the situation, which altered the sound of the sidewalk, "I would have to think," she mused, "they have a new wheel that isn't like this." But the last lingering remnants of modesty held her, and she passed by the house of laughter, and a lecture, and she may as well have been a lecturer at that," she mused.

The new boulevard, constructed by the astute Councillor Bailey, was humming with cars making their way to Main Street. "Bailey deserves well of the town for the job he did here," she said to herself. "I trust that some of these nasty men don't stop the pay cheques."

"No wonder hubby's street railway doesn't pay," she exclaimed as she passed by Arnold's, and saw the stream of new Ford's shooting out over the sidewalk.

Her father was not to be thus flustered. Taking her life in her hands, she dashed across the road, and rushed into the store, attracted to the bargains. And there, in an easy way, she thought, "Calgary is nothing on this town for bargains."

"Little girl, have you no home," a smooth voice whispered in her ear. Turning she saw the form of Jacob Schweitzer, the king of the pecker gang. "Let's go to Jacob's and have an fun," they went.

But it had not been thus. Jacob had taken her in to see Elizabeth's showing of "The Ten Commandments," all might have been here. But the mighty moral of the film enabled her to resist the voice of the tempter, and Jacob related his name, and in anger, as she left him for her love nest in Hyde Park addition.

THE END

"And a good job, too," said the sub. "People will think you composed this in Bob's. Anyway, Tim Longbottom's Bantree notes are in now, so we're lots of copy."

Chancellor Wedding

REIFFENSTEIN — TOOGOOD

Not much interest in the community was the wedding held in the Chancellor Memorial Hall Monday August 18th when Alice, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Toogood, was united in marriage to Mr. Charles Reiffenstein, a prominent young farmer of the Chancellor district. The Rev. Mr. De Vries officiated. The bride was charmingly decorated by Mrs. J. M. Wheatly with white flowers, bells and foliage. To the strains of "The voice that breathed over Eden" sung by the choir, the bride entered the hall on the arm of her father.

She made a charming picture in a lovely gown of old ivory satin her veil of silk net held in place by a wreath of orange blossoms and white honeysuckle, with a deep border of pearl embroidery. She carried a bag of ivory satin with a lucky silver horseshoe, and a bouquet was of cyclamen roses.

The bridesmaids were Miss Fred Day and Miss Marion Malcolm, both of Calgary. They were charmingly gowned in peach and pale yellow, with a deep border of pearl embroidery. They carried bouquets of orange sweet peas. The room was decorated by his brother Mr. Ben Reiffenstein. The bride was given away by her father. During the signing of the register Mrs. E. Naylor sang "Beloved It is now."

The Chancellor orchestra played the wedding march from Lohengrin and amid showers of confetti the happy party adjourned to the home of the bride's parents, where a wedding dinner was served to about one hundred and fifty guests. Dinner was served on the lawn under the immense trees.

In the evening a reception was held in the hall, and almost three hundred people were present. A dance followed, and during the evening Mrs. Dunstan presented the young couple with a handsome Singer sewing machine, and a beautiful reading lamp, the gifts of the community.

Many valuable and handsome gifts were on view; among them being a case of silver from the bride's parents, a dinner service from the parents of the groom, a case of silver spoons from the brides former pupils at South Valley school, a fumed oak arm chair from the groom's sisters, and a host of other gifts too numerous to detail.

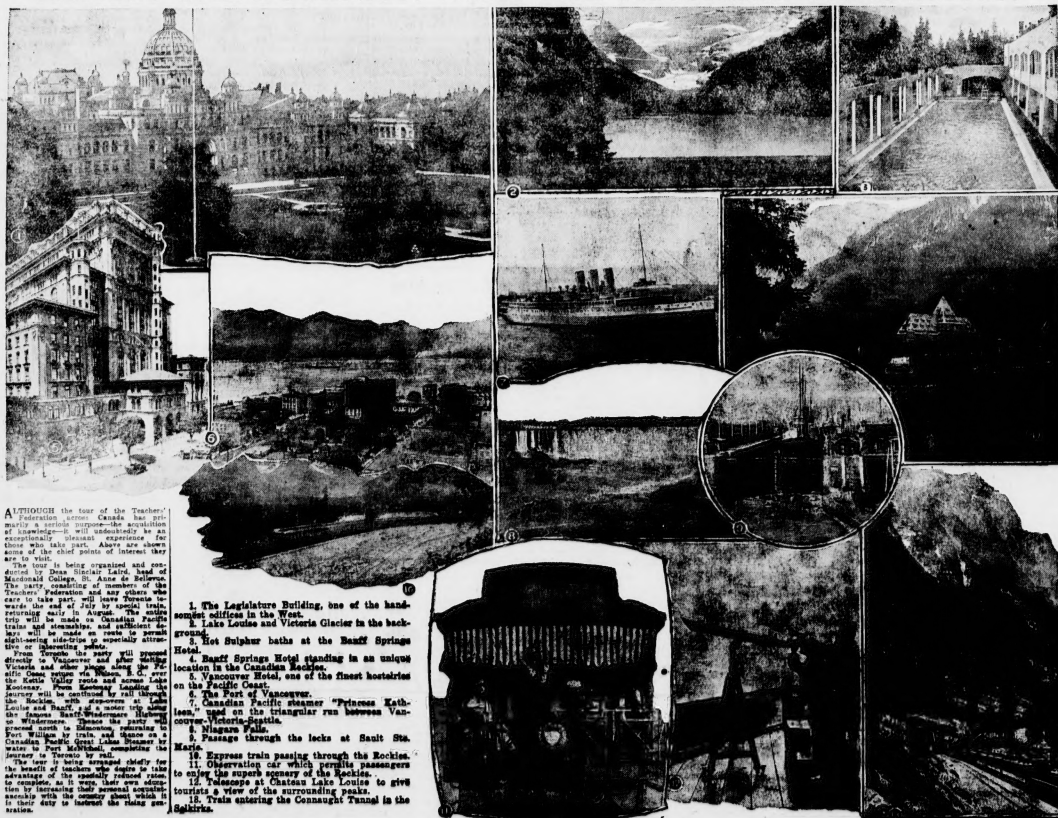

Amid showers of rice and confetti, the happy couple left for a short honeymoon to Sylvan Lake, the bride traveling in a very beautiful suit, with hat to match, after which the young couple will return to the groom's home in Chancellor.

ACROSS THE DOMINION WITH THE TEACHERS' FEDERATION

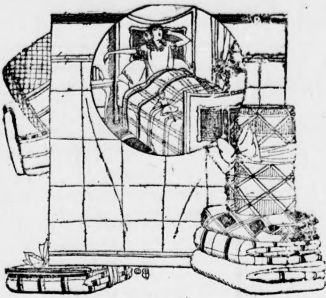

ALTHOUGH the tour of the Teachers' Federation across Canada has primarily a social purpose—the acquisition of knowledge—it will undoubtedly be an exceptionally pleasant experience for those who take part. There are three aims at the chief points of interest they will visit.

The tour is being organized and conducted by Miss Richard Laing, head of MacDonald College, St. Anne de Bellevue. The party, consisting of members of the Teachers' Federation and lay people, will leave Toronto for the west on the 21st of July. The first stop will be in August. The entire trip will be made on Canadian Pacific trains and automobiles, and excellent arrangements will be made to provide all-around attention to the party.

The tour is being organized chiefly for the benefit of teachers who desire to take advantage of the country's natural resources to complete as it is possible to combine with the tour several educational visits to the most interesting places in their day to inspect the things mentioned.

1. The Legislature Building, one of the handsomest edifices in the West.
2. Lake Louise and Victoria Glacier in the background.
3. Hot Sulphur baths at the Banff Springs Hotel.
4. Banff Springs Hotel standing in an unique location in the Canadian Rockies.
5. Vancouver Hotel, one of the finest hostels on the Pacific Coast.
6. The Port of Vancouver.
7. Canadian Pacific steamer "Pomona Kathleen" used on the triangular run between Vancouver, Victoria, Seattle.
8. Niagara Falls.
9. Passage through the locks at Saint Ste. Marie.
10. Express train passing through the Rockies.
11. Observing car which permits passengers to enjoy the superb scenery of the Rockies.
12. Telescope at Chateau Lake Louise to give tourists a view of the surrounding peaks.
13. Train entering the Connaught Tunnel in the Rockies.

Craiganter News

About 1 a.m. on Friday, August 14th, fire broke out in the lot of H. H. Ellis farm, and within one hour and a half the south barn and the house, with the south of the contents were consumed. There was one horse in the barn at the time, but it was not out. Some harness and five or six loads of alfalfa hay were burned, besides a large amount of tools. The most valuable of the furniture was lost. Likewise most of the family's clothing. The house being so close to the barn, it was impossible to save much. Part insurance was carried. The neighbours are taking a sympathetic view of the misfortune, and are doing all they can by way of subscription to help Mr. Ellis out.

Miss D. Glanbeck, late of Arrowton, south of Glitchen, has been engaged for the next school term at Craiganter School. Miss Glanbeck's father, Mr. J. Glanbeck, is widely known as a writer on farm topics, which is interesting to all. We wish Miss Glanbeck success in her new venture.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Grant and family visited with Mr. and Mrs. G. McLean of Calgary, last Sunday.

Cutting is in full swing, and about twenty-five per cent. of the wheat is cut at the time of writing.
One day last week about fifty gait cows at the home of J. A. Grant is witness some of the best riding that had occurred locally for some time. Nordquist, ridden by P. Salmon, was a great hit. Likewise Johannesen Dolly, ridden by John Grant, was exceptionally good. George Grant made a good showing on Gordie. Vern Green was one of the best on a horse called Billy Hamilton, with Bud Robinson on Lemon finished the afternoon of great sport. There were no prizes—age was as good as the other. Everyone enjoyed themselves. After a small lunch all departed for home, well pleased.

Ladies Aid Visits at Calgary

The charming home of Mrs. A. W. Givins, 2124 Ave. West, Calgary, was the scene on Thursday afternoon last of the regular meeting of Strathmore Union Ladies Aid. About thirty-five ladies were present, including several former Strathmore ladies who are now residents of Calgary.

The reception room was prettily decorated with sweet peas. After the business meeting the ladies were entertained to vocal selections by Miss Dorothy Elliott, accompanied on the piano by her mother, Madame Elliott-Brown. These selections were greatly enjoyed.

An elaborate lunch was served by the hostesses, with Mrs. Bremer, Mrs. Hirtle, and others assisting. A hearty vote of thanks to the hostesses was tendered at the close of the meeting, and Mrs. Givins expressed the hope that the ladies of the Aid would make her home their meeting place again.

Keoma News

Last Thursday the ladies of the community surprised Mrs. Melvin Galloway at home, the occasion being a party in her honour. The ladies who were present by Mrs. Bremer, Mrs. Hirtle, and others assisting. A hearty vote of thanks to the hostesses was tendered at the close of the meeting, and Mrs. Givins expressed the hope that the ladies of the Aid would make her home their meeting place again.

Miss Flockhart is staying a few days with her sister, Mrs. Rogers.
Mrs. Galloway has her niece, Mrs. Harrell, and two little daughters, staying with her.
Congratulations to Miss Clara Parke, who has been successful in passing her grade IX examinations.
A baby girl was born to Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wright on August 7th. Mother and child are both doing well.

Community gatherings have recommenced on Saturday evenings at the home of Mrs. Hull, Keoma. Every body is cordially invited.
Miss Doreen Hull is expected home today from her university course at Edmonton, where she has been for the past six weeks.

Standard Notes

Mr. and Mrs. Anton Nelson and children returned from Denman on Wednesday, after spending a very enjoyable vacation in the Old Land. Mr. Nelson is pleased with the crop prospects on his land here.

Miss Lykka Andersen is holidaying in Banff. Her place at the telephone switchboard is being filled by Miss Hoby, of Calgary.

There has been no scarcity of harvest help so far in Standard. A number of men are coming in on every train and usually are employed within twenty-four hours.

Mrs. L. Christensen was a passenger on Calgary on Tuesday, returning with a little girl, Ingrid Joyce, who will make her home at Mr. and Mrs. Christensen's in the future.

Mrs. C. S. B. Laiti entertained the Women's Institute members on Thursday afternoon.

Mr. J. A. Brown, who acted as relief agent during Mr. Knowlton's absence, left on Sunday for his new duties at Glitchen.

There will be a meeting of the ratepayers of the Dana School District in the new Dana School Friday evening, August 21st, at 7:30 p.m., to discuss the High School problem, and decide as to whether there will be a High School course taught in Standard next year. A large attendance is earnestly requested.

We are glad to welcome to Standard Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Milne and daughter, Mr. Milne will act as agent for the United Grain Growers' Elevator at this point. They are residing in the house formerly tenanted by Mr. Albert Jensen.

Mr. Otto Jensen, our popular postmaster, is spending his vacation in the harvest fields. We think harvesting will be a light job after his arduous duties as postmaster.

Drowning Fatality

Attempt to Travel from Edmonton to Winnipeg by Canoe Ends in Disaster.

Rev. Alfred Johnson, of Mirror Lake, was drowned, and the two other occupants of the canoe had a narrow escape, when their canoe capsized in the waters of the North Saskatchewan.

Mr. Wallace Forgie, former secretary of the Boy's Work Board, one of the survivors of the party, is well known locally, especially among the Tuxis and Trail Ranger boys of the district, who have met with him at the annual camps, and also on his visits to Strathmore. The following account of the accident is given by the "Canadian Press":

Fatality has overtaken the canoe party which recently left Edmonton on a voyage along the North Saskatchewan river to Whinip.

Two of the party have arrived at Prince Albert with news that Rev. Alfred Johnson, of Mirror Lake, Alta., one of the paddlers, had been drowned

"God Gives the Seed--the Bread We Need, Man's Labor Must Provide It."

Upper--The old method of reaping the crop. Lower--Testing grain at elevators in Winnipeg.

It is estimated that sixty-nine thousand harvesters will be needed to garner the crops in Western Canada this year. Of this number probably nineteen thousand will be supplied by the Western and prairie provinces leaving fifty thousand to be recruited in the East.

This is an unusually large number. It means that from all parts of Eastern Canada a great army of Canadian men must be mobilized to harvest the grain upon which the general prosperity of the country depends. The famous gold rush of 'sixty-eight held no greater touch of glamour and romance than this annual exodus to the wheat fields of the west. From office, factory and college our young men and old men, and some of our women too, are preparing to enlist in the great adventure from which all hope to return hardy, bronzed and with a swollen savings account.

The railway companies are fully prepared for the rush. Their Colonist cars of the newest, most serviceable and comfortable type, of which they have a greater supply on hand than ever before, are in readiness to make their first trip west, as much for the purpose of seeing the scenery "out west" and becoming personally acquainted with the geography and topography of the country as for taking part in the harvesting operations.

HOW THEY FELT AFTER THE FIRST SWIM OF THE SEASON

Lake Michigan's waters are never warm, even on the hottest summer's day. So a dip in them may be a little shocking at first, but you "stay cool" for several hours afterwards though the mercury be climbing out of the top of the tube.

Little wonder that the fair maidens, when the phenomenon happened, pictured above, should feel like dipping. Their first dip of the season just gave them all kinds of "pop" which they proceeded to demonstrate by kicking the air full of holes. And just he did.

LOCAL NOTINGS

The game regulations are now out for 1925. The open season for ducks and geese will be from Sept. 15 to December 14, grouse for the month of October only. Hunting or trapping over enclosed lands without the consent of the owner is prohibited.

Messrs Alex. Mitchell, Auditor Alberta Government Telephones, and Mr. Colin S. Groff, Publicity Commissioner for the Government of Alberta, visited Strathmore on Thursday for the purpose of inspecting the Strathmore telephone exchange, they being the judges in the competition being held for the telephone exchange for the best appearance. They were very favourably impressed with the local telephone exchange, but their decision will not be announced for some weeks to come. While here they all visited the Demonstration Farm and Irrigation Headquarters.

It is said that newly-weds are not accountable for their actions in the first hours of wedded bliss, and there must be something in the theory. A couple who had the connubial knot tied at Strathmore recently formed the bright idea of evading the crowd gathered at Strathmore station to see them off on their honeymoon by embarking at Chadwick. Accordingly they solicited the good offices of the officiating clergyman, who motored them to Chadwick, where they could board the train for Banff and escape the well-meant though embarrassing attention of their friends. However, when they came to Chadwick, they boarded the first train that came along, which happened to be the eastbound, and arrived back in Strathmore in minutes later. Another case of "love's labour lost."

Duffy Moore and Bill Laurie arrived back Tuesday from Kimberley, B. C. and have taken over the Repair Department of White & Son's Garage. Service given at all hours and absolutely guaranteed.

Readers are requested to send in items for this column not later than 12 o'clock Monday noon preceding day of publication. All local news items are welcomed by the Standard, Phone 17 or 68.

Messrs Fred Davis, Ex. M.L.A., for Glenelg riding, and Hugh Miller, M.P. for Brandon, attended the recent Conservative Convention at Edmonton.

Mr. J. C. Buckley, M.L.A., is a tree enthusiast, and a write-up of his farm, together with a photograph appears in the current issue of "Forest and Outdoors." The article is from the pen of Mr. Archibald Mitchell, of the Canadian Forestry Association. Mr. Buckley has a beautiful home near Glenelg, and his tree planting has been very successful.

Despite the wet weather, the performances of the "Ten Commandments" given last week at the Memorial Hall were well-attended, especially on the Saturday evening, and the film was much enjoyed.

During the months of May, June, July, and up to the 10th of the present month, Arnold Moore, Strathmore, have sold 42 new Ford cars and 37 used cars of various makes, which is a good showing.

Mr. Harold Neek is now accountant with the Union Bank at Strathmore, arriving Monday. Mr. Neek started his banking career at Strathmore, and was overseas during the war. Mr. C. J. Shortridge, the relieving accountant, has now been transferred to Bashaw.

"Eve's Secret," a Paramount picture co-starring Betty Compson and Jack Holt, shows Saturday at the Memorial Hall—and there's not a fit leaf in it! We don't know what Eve's Secret is, but we can tell you that Eve is a little French girl who falls in love with a Duke, who sends her to Paris to be educated. She returns a beautiful woman, and all the men at a fashionable resort on the Riviera start falling all over each other's feet in their attentions to her. The Duke flies off the handle and some great action scenes follow.

Getting Ready For School

BY DR. W. J. SCHOLES

Children with good minds some times fail to learn as readily as they should. There are different reasons for this. Among them is ill-health or the presence of some physical defect.

In schools where there are regular medical examinations of the pupils, these defects are often discovered. In many instances their correction is possible. But all children are not fortunate enough to attend school in which there are medical tests.

How about the six-year-old who is just starting to school? Is he to be handicapped from the first day by defective vision or imperfect hearing? The child that cannot see clearly misses much that is demonstrated on the blackboard. Properly fitted glasses may give perfect vision. The child that is unable to hear much of what is said, may acquire an undesired reputation for backwardness. Yet even defective hearing may sometimes be remedied.

Ill-health due to poor teeth, diseases of tonsils or adenoids, and faulty nutrition may be causes of listlessness or inattention. These, as well as other abnormalities may be revealed by a careful examination. They could often be corrected before they interfere with the child's progress in school. Every child deserves the privilege of starting to school without unnecessary handicaps in the way of ill-health or remediable physical defects.

Should Be Vaccinated

Small-pox and diphtheria are both preventable diseases. It looks as though scarlet fever would soon be added to the list.

If the child is not already effectively vaccinated against small-pox, this should be done before school opens.

It is also advisable to have the doctor make a test to find out whether or not there is a susceptibility to diphtheria. If there is, it is possible to immunize the child against this dangerous disease by means of toxin antitoxin.

Every child should be protected against these two preventable contagious diseases before starting to school.

(Note: Dr. Scholes will answer such as will be of interest to others and permissible in public print. Personal questions will be answered only when accompanied by self-addressed stamped envelope. Address Dr. W. J. Scholes, in care of this paper.)

"The Bread Basket of the Country"

Upper-Mixed farming scene in Manitoba. Left—there on a mixed farm in Alberta. Center—The Canadian Pacific Supply Farm, at Strathmore, Alta.

Bottom—There being in a wheat farmer who has seen the wisdom of keeping at least enough stock in every lot of stock.

That the history of the agricultural adventures in the north-western regions of the United States is full of significance for the farmers of western Canada is shown in an article by Marquis James in the recent edition of the "New York Times". In 1917, 1918 and 1919, wrote Mr. James, there were in the Dakotas, Montana and Minnesota, three complete crop failures in succession which had deplorable economic effects and produced something like a panic in the latter states primarily concerned. But, continues the writer, this misfortune had one desirable result in that it pointed out to the farmers themselves and to the country at large the value of diversified farming, as compared to the one crop methods which had obtained up to that time. The depression demonstrated the necessity for a change in farming methods and in adopting a policy of more extensive and intensive general or diversified farming. Mr. James believes that the North-western States solved their problem. For a time, says Mr. James, prior to the large successive failures, the wheat growers enjoyed a period of unimagined prosperity. They were "wheat-growers," but not all of them were farmers. In an official survey by collings of the inhabitants of the bench country, one finds in one township, cobblers, bookkeepers, actresses, a school-teacher, V.I.C.A. secretaries, dentists, and even soda-water dispensers—not pursuing their regular occupations, but, for, or perhaps, it is better to say, growing wheat. They were making money, too, because from 1912 to 1916 there was a phenomenal rise in wheat in that western section and the wheat yields were astonishing.

People thought this would last for ever. They even thought the rainfall would last. The story one hears in so many new countries was repeated and cultivation of the native root crops a permanent increase in the precipitation. Government wealth records fail to support this contention. But this and many other things were lost sight of in the heyday of the boom in the United States' Middle West. Land values soared to dizzy heights. Money, credit was everywhere had money. Credit was everywhere. Over-expansion followed. Then descended the three crop failures in a row—1917, 1918 and 1919. The previously simple rainfall dropped off and the 10-day farming methods were not equal to the occasion. The country was in a desperate fix. Banks had to lend more money after each failure to enable the farmer to put in another crop in the hope that the preceding year would cover earlier, as well as current loans. The crop of 1920 also failed. Thousands of settlers left, and one bank in every three in Montana failed.

The same situation existed in modified form over the Dakotas and Minnesota, but the older localities had resources to fall back on.

It is easy to be wise after the event and the moral to the above is that there has been a turnover not only in farming methods but in farmers. The 10-day wheat farmer—the denists and soda clerks—have largely given place to agriculturists of the 30-day a year variety. Wheat is still the main money crop, but it is grown scientifically. That wheat followed and worked before and after planting. Wheat acreages are everywhere diminishing and crops are rotated and diversified. Rye, millet, alfalfa and flax have been introduced; dairy and beef herds established; Poultry, bees and vegetable gardens cultivated. That wheat fails, as it sometimes must, there is something else to fall back upon. This lesson has not been lost in Canada. Farmers of the Canadian West who are succeeding are in most cases doing so because they have learned the sound economic value of diversified farming as compared to the one-crop method.

Evolution?

Since the Scopes trial in Dayton, Tennessee, a number of earnest people even in this district are worrying about whether or not man is a descendant of the ape.

There are enough problems in the present and future without concerning ourselves about those of the past. The theory of evolution will always remain a theory, and the Bible concept of creation will always have to be taken on faith, for we have no way of proving either.

What might be of profit to us would be to study the facts of recorded history, and apply them to our problems of the present. The great civilizations of the past, in Assyria, in Egypt, in North and South America, have crumbled in ruin. Ours may go the same way. The present-day tendencies are not arrested. The machinery we have ourselves created to supply us with the conveniences of life and its luxuries is in danger of overwhelming us, as instance the Great War.

Several hundred years ago one of the principal questions on which controversy raged was as to how many angels could sit on the point of a needle. This is about as profitable a subject of discussion as to whether such were tails once.

Optimism

Alberta, and Western Canada in general, has regained its old-time optimism. There was never any reason why we should have lost it.

The Province was never in as healthy a state financially as it is now. Prices of natural products have advanced from the conditions of several years ago. The oil industry is now being taken hold of on a large scale, and the next few years should see big developments in the use of hydro-electric power and coal. This is the last great west. The future lies with the people who are within our borders, and the institution of the Wheat Pool and other forms of self-help shows that the majority are aware of their power to develop their property.

"ONE TOOTH" DIFFERENCE BETWEEN JOINED TWINS

No longer can they say that these famous twins, Violet and Daisy Hill, whose eyes were sealed together—are as alike as "two peas in a pod." Daisy developed a toothache one day and the twentysome molar had to be removed. So you see, there is now the difference of "one tooth" between them. Violet, shown at the left in the picture above, seems to be glad that it wasn't her tooth. She ardently watched the performance while Dr. Price S. Mayhew did the extracting. But it was right for Violet but not so good for Daisy.

THE COMMUNITY'S VALUE

A good local paper makes a good local community. The well-edited paper is a distinct advantage to its community and serves a need that will always exist. It prides the current news of the community and, with a capable editor, it becomes a real factor in the up-building of the community. It can and does accomplish much for the common weal.

A well-edited local paper is a vital factor in community uplift. It reflects the character of the community itself. It adds materially in the direction and assistance of all community development, both industrial and educational. It could not survive one year, let alone twenty-five if no need existed or it failed to fill the wants.

Slats' Diary

Friday—well the business men of the town give us fellows a picnic today an I felt very sorry for my old old Judo which mist the bus and did not get to go to the picnic the business men give for us fellows. He got left on acct. that just as he was ready to go to the picnic he was told his bus had broken down and makes him cum on back an warsh his teeth and he was to late to catch the bus. And that's where I had it on him becuz I had went and warsh my teeth the day before. At noon.

Saturday—I guess ma was kinda Sore at pa today becuz he woodent take us to the pitcher shore with him her favori actress on the skreen. I herd her tell all Emmy that the one difference between me and the U S Min was that the min made money let but pa makes it Last.

Sunday—This afternoon pa tuk me along for his Cuddle on acct. Ma was about herber I gess and he diddnt want to stand off any of the other kids. While he was playing Mr. Stokes sed to him. You remint me of Jack Denney when you try to get out of that Sand pit and pa sed. How cum I remint you of Jack Denney he isent no golf player is he. And all Mr. Stokes sed was. No He is NOT A Golf Player. And pa lookt like as if he was Sore.

Monday—Ma sed I must of ben Deprills in my sleep has nite-ache sed I hep bollering for her to let me take a Bath. But I was all site when I found out she diddnt let me.

Tuesday—Ed Hix told pa he owes a ofal lot to 2 women. They are his mother and his landlady.

Wednesday—Ma has nick named Pa The Blue Hound because he dont never give up a cent. And then pa comes back and says that Stronngorffs aint the oney winner who uses the Turck Sistem.

Thursday—Pa and Mr. Gillen was a playing checkers toite. All Emmy sed at the reason some men likes to play Checkers is becuz they can make a move without getting off three chair.
